David Grande MD, MPA

Assistant Professor of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania
Leonard Davis Institute Senior Fellow

Dr. Grande's research and work focuses on health policy with a specific focus on the health care safety net. He recently chaired the health transition team for Philadelphia Mayor Michael Nutter and has worked with the City of Philadelphia and State of New Jersey on issues related to access to care. He also conducts research on aspects of medical professionalism including the civic and social roles of physicians and the influences of commercial marketing on the profession.

Richard Hamburg MPA

Deputy Director, Trust for America's Health

Mr. Hamburg oversees public policy initiatives, advocacy campaigns, and internal operations at Trust for America's Health (TFAH), and has more than 25 years of experience as a leading health policy advocate. He led TFAH's successful advocacy efforts to ensure that wellness and prevention were key components of national health reform, and has been instrumental in TFAH's work on obesity prevention, building national pandemic flu and public health emergency response capabilities, and increasing support for public health priorities and budgets.
