

Creative Action

The Arts in Public Health

Witnesses to Hunger

Mothers with a common goal: ending childhood hunger.

Exhibit Opening & Presentation

featuring Marianna Chilton PhD MPH, founder and director of Witnesses to Hunger & several of the photographers involved in the project

April 7th @ 12pm

Terrace Room, Claudia Cohen Hall
249 South 36th Street
(This will be a 'no-lunch luncheon'.)

RSVP at cphi@pobox.upenn.edu

Witnesses to Hunger is about participation and action. The photographers of the project are mothers and caregivers of young children from Philadelphia and across the state of Pennsylvania. They use digital cameras to frame the issues most important to them and to their children. What these women know – and what their pictures show us – is how hard it is to nourish a child when every day presents limited opportunities and impossible trade-offs: rent or medicine, heat or breakfast, diapers or fresh fruit. These women are teachers with invaluable lessons to impart. Each of us is invited to look and listen for their guidance. For more information, please visit www.witnesstohunger.org.

Exhibit Open: Fox Art Gallery, Cohen Hall - April 7th to 29th

Photo by: Shearine McGhee